Take Memorial Drive to the B.U. Bridge. After the bridge, continue straight, crossing Commonwealth Ave. The road will bear left. Continue on that road until you are forced to turn right onto Park Drive. Stay on Park Drive; it curves around, eventually becoming the Riverway, then the Jamaica Way. You will cross Brookline Ave., and go under Route 9. In about 3 miles, you will be passing the Jamaica Pond on your right.

Soon you will come to a large, rotary. Take the second exit off of the rotary onto the Arborway; the Arboretum will be on your right. Get off at the first exit ramp; go right onto Washington Street. Take Washington Street for about 1.3 miles, passing a large park on your left and traveling through a commercial district. Due to Washington Street being one way for a block, you will be forced to bear right when you approach a small park, Adams Park. Take an immediate left to come back toward Washington Street; turn left at the light so you are back on Washington Street going back toward where you came from. Make an immediate right onto Cummins Highway. The church is the gray wooden structure on your right.

From Route 128:

Turn right at the sign saying West Roxbury/Hyde Park. At the bottom of the off ramp turn right. The road is called Hammond Pond Parkway, although there is no sign there. Go .8 miles to a rotary. Take the third exit off the rotary onto Newton Street. Stay in the left lane on Newton Street, and bear left at the fork, where you'll see a sign pointing towards the Faulkner Hospital. Stay on Newton Street for about a half-mile until it appears to end, then turn right onto Grove Street. Make your next left onto Allandale Road. Go about 1 mile on Allandale Road until it ends at Centre Street.
